BACKGROUND

INTRODUCTION

In 2004, the City of Battle Creek (City) received an Abandoned Well Management Grant (AWMG) from the State of Michigan to implement an Abandoned Well Program (AWP). With the availability of the AWMG, the City developed and implemented a systematic program to identify and plug abandoned wells in the City's Verona Wellhead Protection Area (WHPA). This is the final project report for the AWP and describes the activities performed by the City during the period May 2005 through September 2007.

Two general types of wells were included in the AWP: private wells (residential, commercial, industrial, or fire protection) and selected monitoring wells associated with remedial investigations of the Verona Well Field (VWF).

PROJECT ADMINISTRATION

The City administered the overall work, conducted the AWP, provided various in-kind services, and submitted progress reports to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) in support of the AWMG. The City retained the services of Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr & Huber, Inc. (FTC&H) to implement the majority of the program and represent the City during well searching and plugging.

FTC&H prepared specifications for the plugging of all wells for solicitation of drilling firms. The plugging work was competitively bid through the City's bid process. FTC&H worked with the City to select the most qualified contractor and served as contract administrator. The City retained Terry's Well Service of Olivet, Michigan, for plugging wells and providing other as-needed services.

FTC&H provided periodic inspections to verify that plugging activities had been completed in conformance with the contract requirements. FTC&H also made recommendations to the City regarding payment of the well drilling contractor upon satisfactory completion of the plugging activities.

The City felt it was important to the success of the AWP that incentives be offered for plugging wells. The City decided to offer $75 to those private well owners who allowed their wells to be plugged. These payments were made to well owners after confirmation that the wells had been properly plugged.

WHPA (SEARCH AREA) DESCRIPTION

The State of Michigan defines a WHPA as “the surface and subsurface areas surrounding a water well, or well field, which supplies a public water system, and through which contaminants are reasonably likely to move toward and reach the water well or well field within a 10-year time-of-travel.” The VWF WHPA was delineated in May 2000 by FTC&H as part of the City’s Wellhead Protection Program.

SIZE AND LAND-USE/ZONING IN THE WHPA

The Verona WHPA is a fourteen-square-mile area that includes portions of the City of Battle Creek (7% of the area), Emmett Township (21% of the area), and Pennfield Township (72% of the area). A map of the WHPA showing key geographic features is provided as Figure 1.

The WHPA includes a variety of land-use and multiple-zoning jurisdictions, including residential, commercial, industrial, and agricultural.

Utilities – Water Service

Municipal water is provided to a portion of the Battle Creek VWF WHPA by both the City and Pennfield Township. A map showing the current distribution system for these communities is provided as Figure 2. Private groundwater-based supplies service the areas not serviced by municipal water supplies.

MONITORING WELLS

The AWP program included the identification and plugging of monitoring wells and a limited number of surface gauges associated with the remedial investigation of known sites of environmental contamination surrounding the VWF. The VWF has been a site of intensive investigation since the discovery of volatile organic compounds in the groundwater in and around the VWF in the early 1980s. The investigations resulted in the installation of hundreds of monitoring wells. As part of this grant-funded project, the MDEQ approved expenditures of grant funds to plug monitoring wells installed by the MDEQ, the United States Geological Survey, or the United States Environmental Protection Agency. Wells installed by various Potentially Responsible Parties (PRPs) were not included in the list of wells to be plugged as part of the AWP.

SEARCH METHODS

PRIVATE WELLS

Prior to implementing any search efforts, the City researched the WHPA to identify those areas most likely to have abandoned wells. The City also prioritized the search areas in order to maximize the efficiency of subsequent search efforts. The following search areas and priorities were established.

Likelihood of Having Abandoned Wells (Ranked High to Low)

- Developed areas initially for wells that were later serviced by City water
- Developed areas currently without municipal water
- Areas on municipal water since development

Search Priority (Ranked High to Low)

- Areas within the 1-year time-of-travel
- Areas within the 5-year time-of-travel
- Areas within the 10-year time-of-travel

Prior to implementing field searching activities, the City developed and implemented an Education and Outreach Program (EOP). The purpose of the EOP was to elevate public awareness of the problems associated with unplugged abandoned wells and announce the City's and Township's sponsorship of the AWP. The AWP also promoted the availability of financial incentives to those who properly plugged their wells. Components of the AWP included:

- Placing advertisements in local newspapers identifying the AWP, including the incentives for plugging wells.
- Hanging posters regarding the AWP in strategic areas, such as City buildings, Pennfield Township Hall, and local retail establishments.
- Developing a cable-access television presentation that was aired on a local cable channel. The presentation discussed issues such as identification of abandoned wells and the importance of properly plugging them.
- Developing a pre-movie advertisement that was played at a local movie theatre.

- Water bill mailers were used to provide information regarding the AWP to utility customers within the City and Township, including financial incentives to plug their abandoned wells.

Some of these education and outreach strategies were employed during the searching efforts as a means to maintain awareness of the AWP in the community.

Several methods were employed to identify abandoned private wells. These methods included:

- Distributing Door Hangers - Door hangers were used primarily in areas where there was a lower likelihood of finding abandoned wells, such as areas that were never serviced by municipal supplies. They were also left on doors where residents were not home during the door-to-door visits. It is estimated that approximately 2,000 door hangers were distributed for this project. Figure 3 is a map showing search methods used in the various areas. An example door hanger and flyer are provided in Appendix 1.
- Door-to-Door Visits - City representatives conducted door-to-door surveys in areas having a high likelihood of abandoned wells. Door-to-door visits were generally conducted in the late afternoon to early evening hours in an attempt to maximize the likelihood that residents/well owners would be present. Search results are shown on Figure 4. Approximately 852 individual buildings or dwellings were visited during the door-to-door surveys. A listing of all locations visited by City representatives is provided in Table 1.
- Telephone Calling - Telephone calling, primarily made during late afternoon or early evening, was used to supplement the door-to-door visits. City representatives contacted residents informing them about the AWP and asking whether there may be an abandoned well on their property. A listing of all locations that were contacted by telephone is provided in Table 1.

MONITORING WELLS

Monitoring wells included in the AWP were identified by the PRP group associated with remedial activities around the VWF. Progressive Engineering & Construction, Inc. provided the City with a list of wells to be plugged (see Appendix 2). FTC&H used the list to locate the monitoring wells. The services of a local surveyor, Mr. Phil McPherson of Milepost Land Surveying, were also used to locate wells that were not physically evident during field inspections.

SEARCH RESULTS AND WELL PLUGGING

Search and plugging results are summarized in Tables 2 and 3 and have been depicted graphically on Figures 4 and 5.

All well plugging was done by a licensed well driller (Terry's Well Service, Olivet, Michigan). The well plugging methods used for this project were consistent with R 325.1663, Rule 163, Abandoned Wells and Dry Holes; Plugging Method, and R 325.1664, Abandonment of Wells; Plugging Material, of the Michigan Water Well Construction and Pump Installation Code. Details regarding well plugging are provided in Tables 2 and 3.

PRIVATE WELLS

A total of 53 private wells were identified and plugged during the AWP. An additional 154 wells were identified, but were not plugged for a variety of reasons. This includes wells that were in use at the time of the survey. Table 2 is a summary of information related to the private well search and plugging. Figure 4 graphically depicts the results of the search and plugging work. Wells that were plugged during the AWP are shown on this figure. Also shown are 12 abandoned wells identified during the search that FTC&H could not confirm were being used for any purpose. Private well abandoned water well and pump records are provided as Appendix 3.

MONITORING WELLS

A total of 42 monitoring wells were identified and plugged during the AWP. Thirteen wells and four surface gauges could not be located. Table 3 is a summary of the monitoring well search and plugging information. Monitoring well abandoned water well and pump records are provided as Appendix 4.

Average Cost/Well Plugged	$1,660

PROGRAM CHALLENGES

Project challenges encountered during this project included:

1. Making Contact with Well Owners – A significant amount of effort was required to make contact with well owners. Finding people home, or willing to answer the door, was difficult.
2. Awareness of the Issue – Many of the residents contacted had very little knowledge of wells or the concept of an abandoned well. Because the AWP was so foreign to many, it was often difficult during a visit or telephone call to get people to understand what the program was about. Also, the lack of familiarity meant many individuals had no idea if there was ever a well on their property or whether an abandoned or plugged well might exist on their property.
3. Monitoring Wells – A considerable number of the monitoring wells could not be found. This highlights the vulnerability of these wells to being lost or damaged to an extent that they can no longer be found.
