Substantial Changes to Counties and County Equivalent Entities: 1970-Present

By clicking on a year below you will see the substantial county changes that occurred during that decade. Substantial county changes include all county boundary changes affecting an estimated population of 200 or more people, changes of at least one square mile where no estimated population was provided and research indicated that the affected population may have been 200 people or more, or "large" annexations of unpopulated territory (10 square miles or more).

Note: The Census Bureau does not have maps illustrating the boundary changes listed on this web page. Contact the state or county governments affected for more specific information about these changes.

2010 Census Summary Files

The Summary File 1 data tables provide the most detailed information available so far from the 2010 Census about a community's entire population, including cross-tabulations of age, sex, households, families, relationship to householder, housing units, detailed race and Hispanic or Latino origin groups, and group quarters. The Summary File 2 tables add a new layer of detail — making information, such as age, relationship and homeownership available for specific race and ethnic groups within a community.

2010 Census Population Profile Maps

The U.S. Census Bureau's 2010 Census

Profile maps present a graphic overview of selected demographic information from the 2010 Census of Population and Housing. In addition to a population density map, each page includes a pie chart showing percent of total population by race, a population pyramid, and a bar chart illustrating housing occupancy rates. The map series consists of one page-sized map for each state in the United States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico, as well as

These map files are in Portable Document Format (PDF) and were designed to be viewed with Adobe® Reader® Offsite, which is available free from Adobe. If your browser opens them in another PDF reader, the screen display may not accurately reproduce the map.

These maps are being released on a flow basis as they become available. Go to our 2010 Census Population Profile Maps page to view the individual state maps that have been released.

Redistricting Data

The Census Bureau's interactive redistricting map widget enables users to view local 2010 Census data by state, including population change and race and Hispanic or Latino origin data by county.

Additional Data: To access data from multiple geographies within the state, such as census blocks, tracts, voting districts, cities, counties and school districts, visit American Factfinder: http://factfinder2.census.gov.

Embed on your site by copying the following code, replacing XX with your two-digit state abbreviation (e.g. "LA") and optionally replacing the values for width and height. To embed the U.S. map, leave off the state parameter.

<iframe src="http://www.census.gov/2010census/data/embedstate.html?state=XX" frameborder="0" scrolling="no" marginheight="0" marginwidth="0" width="800" height="510">IFRAMES not supported</iframe>

Note: height should equal width divided by 1.566, rounded to a whole number. For example, 940x600 or 800x510.

Data provided by U.S. Census Bureau.

- - Represents zero or rounds to 0.0
- The term 'county' refers to county or equivalent entity.

Data provided by U.S. Census Bureau.

Population Density: Includes Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia in population density rankings, 1 to 52.

Apportionment: Apportionment is the process of dividing the 435 seats in the House of Representatives among the 50 states. Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia are not included.

Alaska and Hawaii gained statehood in 1959. Arizona and New Mexico gained statehood in 1912. For apportionment, data before those periods are not reflected on the map.

Congress did not reapportion in 1920. Therefore, the apportionment data shown for this decade replicates the data for 1910. There is no data reflected for the apportionment population in the 1920 "people per representative" chart.
